

Pauline Miller

Lloyd's Corporation

Pauline Miller is Head of Diversity and Inclusion for Lloyd's Corporation and responsible for all diversity and inclusion strategies across Lloyd's. Pauline additionally advises and supports the Inclusion@Lloyd's committee on Diversity and Inclusion for the Lloyd's Market. With more than ten years in the diversity arena, Pauline is highly regarded as a change agent and expert in Diversity and Inclusion. Pauline has led and implemented several global projects including accountability for inclusion, employee engagement, building inclusive cultures and unconscious bias. Prior to joining Lloyd's, Pauline held positions at State Street, Barclays Wealth and Barclays Capital within Diversity and Talent Development. Pauline currently sits as an advisory board member for the United Nations Foundation's Girl Up campaign, a grass roots charity focusing on empowerment for girls. Pauline is an active member of her local community, Chair of Governors for the local Infant and Nursery School and a mentor for teenage girls and women at the early stages of their career
